

Birth Tourism
Gerald De Guzman
Northern Marianas College
Dr. Kimberly Bunts-Anderson
Reflection
4/27/18

Birth Tourism

Birth Tourism was interesting topic and has been going on for quite some time now. Birth tourism is when a mother comes from another country and has the purpose to give birth there. An anchor baby is a child is born to a mother who doesn't have citizenship like her baby. I would work with the topic more further. I was hoping for at least a response to one of my letters to experts. I wouldn't change my topic if I had the chance and it was worth researching because I got to know more in depth with the situation at hand.

I prefer the method I learned in this class. It was really organized and helped me gather information for my research project. It helped getting feedback from the instructor and as well as the students in the classroom. Each piece of the project worked one at a time. It proved to be a building block for the project as well which helped a lot in the process. Having the time throughout the whole course helped a lot. It helped indicating if the information given was correct or not. It helped indicate if the information was an academic article or not. Having the textbook throughout the course and going through it during the process helped a lot. It gave instructions on how to make essays, reports, and different writing styles as well. Learning the four different types of essays will definitely help me in the future for future classes. Looking for literature and analyzing them is a great method in writing a paper and will be a future skill for me . My strength towards the project was to always speak out. Getting at the matter when I can and trying to get it done as fast as possible. My weakness would be structure in my writing and organization. I feel like i was able to take 10 steps forward into my academic writing and I hope I could learn more in the near future